The Clinical Sociology Review, an annual publication of the Clinical Sociology Association, seeks articles, reports and essays which emphasize sociological practice. This volume is distributed without charge to all 1981 members of the Clinical Sociology Association.

The Association, established in 1978, is an international organization of sociologists and other social scientists interested in applying sociological knowledge for positive social change. CSA members include practitioners, instructors, researchers and students.

Inquiries. Non-members may purchase copies at the following rates: individuals ($6.50 prepaid) and institutions ($10.50 prepaid.) Checks should be made payable to the Clinical Sociology Association and sent to the CSA Secretary-Treasurer: John Glass, 4242 Wilkinson Avenue, Studio City, CA 91604.

All communication regarding the Clinical Sociology Association should be addressed to the Executive Officer: Jonathan Freedman, Department of Education and Training, Hutchings Psychiatric Center, Box 27, University Station, Syracuse, NY 13210.

Manuscripts. Information about manuscript submission may be obtained from the Editor: Janet Mancini Billson, Department of Sociology, Rhode Island College, Providence, Rhode Island 02908.

Acknowledgments

The cover of the Clinical Sociology Review is the work of Lynette Anderson, a recent graduate of the Colorado Institute of Art, and winner of the 1981 CSA Design Award. The Clinical Sociology Association wishes to thank Ms. Anderson, the Institute and Professor Dean Erickson for their assistance.

This volume of the Review has been made possible in large part through the generosity of Professor Lawrence LaFave (1929-1979) and his estate. LaFave was a professor of social psychology at the University of Windsor before his untimely death at the age of 49. While LaFave would have classified himself as a basic researcher, he often argued in his papers and lectures for a clinical sociology with a focus on social realities in addition to personality dynamics. This first volume of the Review addresses the range of interests that intrigued LaFave.

The Association also gratefully acknowledges the assistance of Lenoir Community College and the college President, Dr. Jesse L. McDaniel, in the production of the Clinical Sociology Review.
