

2022

Vortex

MA|DE

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.wayne.edu/woodwardreview>

Part of the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

MA|DE (2022) "Vortex," The Woodward Review: A Creative and Critical Journal: Vol. 2: Iss. 2, Article 12.
Available at: <https://digitalcommons.wayne.edu/woodwardreview/vol2/iss2/12>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the Open Access Journals at DigitalCommons@WayneState. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Woodward Review: A Creative and Critical Journal by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@WayneState.

MA | DE
VORTEXT

Lake Michigan is a clamorous collector, accumulating sailors beneath then gulps, garlanding them in coral and barnacles, replenishing inflict catastrophic misfortune on the warm meat and of shipwrecks past; a history of abnormal of ancient herding stones must leviathan's vicious,
 be kept secret from a crude or fussy public talespinning sparkle ... who is breathless to chase the hearsay of any the allure of fragments and light debris. They drag the lake with sonar, map the speculative sites attempt to fathom loss. They drag the lake with sonar, map the speculative sites to Benton Harbour to Manitow, a temperamental false mirror whose glassy stare holds the power to holding its shapeshifted mysteries vinted in bathyspheric hideways. It swallows, setting ships down on beds of shale, metal peregrinating overhead. Small surface creatures, resisting submersion, their cabins with fish. Its dramatic vanishings triangulate the space connecting Ludington its trenchant freshwaters; a lepidopterist, pinning planes by their wings to the benthic zone; a dioramist,