Many of these materials are available through your Library Network, which includes over 75 communities or through MeLCat—a Statewide database.

Purpose: The purpose of the Peacebuilding Bibliography is to gather and make accessible, for youth and adults, materials that document efforts for nonviolent social change and nonviolent conflict resolution between peoples and nations.

Scope: The Bibliography contains information on peace movements, both historical and current; leaders of nonviolence; and Nobel Peace Prize winners. In addition, there is information on nonviolent solutions to conflict as well as information on inspirational leaders dedicated to improving the lives of people through economic and social change.

Sources: Sources used in the data gathering for this Bibliography includes: The United States Institute of Peace Library, Washington D.C.; Swarthmore College, Pennsylvania, Peace Collection; Professor Irwin Abrams (Emeritus), Antioch College, Ohio, Nobel Peace Prize Archivist; collectors of women’s peace movement documented history; The Jane Addams Peace Association (JAPA), an affiliate of the Women’s International League for Peace and Freedom (WILPF); International Institute for Restorative Practice (iirp), various peace organizations; members of Citizens for Peace; and lastly, Amazon for their online system of listing books on related subjects. It is the intention that this Peacebuilding collection be an ongoing project with the inclusion of additional materials, as they become known.

This Bibliography contains listings of materials and is a compilation of previous lists of 2006, 2007, 2009, 2011, 2015 and 2017 addendums. The key for identifying materials is listed on the bottom of each page.

As a nonprofit nonpartisan organization, the Citizens for Peace Education Fund supports and conducts research, education, and informational activities to increase awareness of peace and nonviolence issues to further strengthen the global movement for a culture of peace. (www.citizens4peace.com)
